SUTLER SAYS HE USED BIG STONE

Slayer of William Brown is Captured in Maryland City. Makes Signed Confession before Cumberland Police.

That William F. Brown was killed with a cobblesstone, and not with an ax, is the statement of Solomon Sutler, self-confessed murderer who was arrested Wednesday evening in Cumberland, Md., as he was on his way from one negro saloon to another. Sutler furthermore declares that he dragged Brown's body several hundred yards to a nearby woods and that he did not use a horse for this purpose.

The arrest was made by Assistant Chief of Police Clay Wilson, of Cumberland and he is entitled to the $500 reward, half of which was offered by William Brown, of Gettysburg, father of the murdered man, and the other half by the Carroll County Commissioners.

Sheriff Stoner and a deputy from Carroll County passed through Gettysburg at 11:22 Wednesday night on their way from Baltimore to Cumberland to get the man.

About 11 o'clock Wednesday night Sutler sent for Chief Eisenhauer, of Cumberland, and said he wanted to make a full confession. He was taken to the office of the Chief where he made the confession and signed it. The confession follows:

"I am making this confession to Chief-of-Police J. Thomas Eisenhauer of my own free will, without promises of immunity. My name is Solomon Sutler. I was born in Baltimore and was sent to a reform school at Cheltenham, and then to the farm of William F. Brown. On Friday Mr. Brown cursed me because I did not get up early and on Saturday evening between 6 and 6:30 o'clock I went to the cattle shed and hit him with a large cobblesstone in the head. I then dragged him through the field by myself."

(Signed) SOLOMON SUTLER
Witnesses: J. Thomas Eisenhauer, Clay Wilson, Isaac D. Boyd.

An inquest was held at Silver Run Wednesday over the remains of William F. Brown, Coroner Theodore F. Brown, of Westminster, presiding. The verdict of the jury was that Brown came to his death by a blow from a blunt instrument inflicted by Solomon Sutler.

The feeling in Carroll county is so bitter against Sutler that the authorities there deem it prudent to keep the prisoner in Baltimore city until his trial comes up. State's Attorney Seabrook, of Carroll County, says the trial will be speedy.

WALL STREET HAS FAMILY FRACAS

Wall Street Has Morning Row and Arrest Results. New Official Has his Initial Experience with Case.

Alleging that her husband knocked her down, broke off a tooth and bit her finger, Mrs. Mary Hansford, of Wall street, this afternoon laid information before Squire Hill charging her husband, Harvey Hansford, with assault and battery. The husband was arrested during the morning by Sheriff Hartman and Burgess Eicholtz. Incidentally it was the first arrest made by the new county official.

Mrs. Hansford, talking excitedly, unfolded a tale of marital unhappiness before Squire Hill. She said that her husband "did nothing but bum around"; that he stayed up at the mountain for many months; that he tried to make her live in a stable last year which she did until she could stand it no longer.

"I guess the jail is the best place for him", commented Squire Hill.

"No, he belongs in the asylum, that's where he belongs", answered the woman, who then proceeded to relate an incident of last winter when her husband, in his stocking feet, found pleasure in running around in the snow.

The trouble came to a climax Wednesday evening when Hansford tried to keep his wife from going to the post office, and the fracas was renewed this morning. Finally, according to Mrs. Hansford, the man struck her over the mouth, knocking out a tooth. A shot gun, which her son was cleaning, changed hands and a hurry call was sent for the officers, with the sheriff and the burgess responding. Several loaded cartridges were taken from Hansford after he was committed to jail.

The defendant will have his case heard at January term of Court.

WHISKY STOLEN

Thieves Use Autotruck in Raiding Waynesboro Distillery.

A band of whisky thieves, which has been operating in the Blue Ridge section for some time, broke into Welty Bros' distillery, near Waynesboro, early Wednesday morning, filled a barrel of whisky and rolled it out of the building. They rolled the barrel for half a mile to an automobile truck, upon which it was loaded. Several jugs also were filled with whisky and taken away.

It is thought that the thieves then went into a mountain road for several miles and hid their loot among the rocks. Five months ago thieves broke into the Pen Mar distillery and carried off a barrel of whisky.

PRAYER CHAIN AGAIN APPEARS

Endless Chain Going through Post Office with Request that Each Recipient Shall Mail Nine Copies.

An endless chain prayer has made its appearance in Gettysburg and scores of postals and letters are being sent from friend to friend. There is no telling how far the chain may extend and how much it may enrich the Post Office Department.

The plan is an old one. This "ancient prayer" is sent all over the world and each recipient is asked to send it to nine friends within nine days. It can be easily seen that in a short space of time, should most people heed the request, the mails would be flooded with these prayers.

The prayer as it has been transmitted in Gettysburg varies. Somebody has evidently not copied it correctly. The substance of it is: "Oh Lord, I implore Thee to bless all mankind; bring us to Thee, keep us to dwell with Thee." The recipient is asked not to break the chain. In ancient times it is said that all who wrote the prayer would be free from calamity, and those who passed it by would meet with some misfortune or great calamity. If the request is complied with, the hope is held out that some great joy will follow on the tenth day.

By simple mathematical calculation it can be figured what a tremendous batch of mail the prayer would constitute if each person who received it would comply and forward it to nine other friends. It is said that there is some postal regulation which bears on these endless chain schemes.

HOPE FOR INDUSTRY

Mount Holly Springs May Get New Factory.

Mount Holly Springs is now interested in the proposition of securing a manufacturing concern to establish a factory in the property of the Mt. Holly Printing Company, unoccupied since the closing of the plant. The Industrial League of Holly held a meeting and if a satisfactory report is made by James W. Eckels, who goes to New York to investigate the proposition, it is likely that the new concern will locate in the mountain town.

The concern under consideration manufactures kitchen utensils, made principally to sell in five and ten cent stores. It is likely that the company will ask that a block of stock to the amount of $5,000 be subscribed. Already 30 citizens have offered to subscribe. The plant, it is said, would employ about 50 people.

Holly people are much elated over the project for many were thrown out of employment when the printing plant closed down some time ago and real estate values in the town have depreciated materially. James W. Eckels, borough solicitor for Mt. Holly, has been despatched to New York to investigate the proposition and make a report. Nothing further will be done until this report is received.

TURKEYS FOR ORPHANS

The turkeys, vegetables, cakes and fruit served at the dinner were donated by the members, twenty of whom made the trip from York to the protectors in a motor truck. When the party arrived at the protectors, the Sisters, who are in charge of the institution, turned the kitchen over to the visitors who fell to preparing and serving the dinner. After the delighted boys had been well fed they rendered a number of songs for their entertainers.

COULD NOT FACE LOSS OF WORK

And Wrightsville Man Took his Own Life. Neglect of Duty Made him Fear being Thrown out of Employment.

John W. Barnes, fifty five years old and unmarried, committed suicide at Wrightsville some time Tuesday night by shooting himself in the head with a .32 calibre revolver. The dead was committed on the second floor of the Municipal building, in which the Wrightsville Hose company has its headquarters. Barnes was the janitor of the building and also had his living quarters there. The body was found by H. C. Keller, proprietor of the Wilson House; Silas M. Birnstock, hardware merchant, and Oliver Freet, proprietor of the Freet cigar store.

The only known motive which led Barnes to commit the rash act was revealed in a note he left, in which he admitted his fault for an accident to the boiler in the building that had been cracked recently. He stated in the note that he made a miscalculation when he looked at the steam gauge, and let the boiler go dry while there was a hot fire underneath.

It is also stated that Barnes had been drinking heavily the past several weeks, and it is thought that the latter condition disturbed his mental balance, and that he feared he would lose his job.

Immediately upon finding the body the authorities were notified and Coroner Pius H. Jones, of York, was summoned. After learning the facts in the case the coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary. In the note that Barnes left behind it was also stated that he had $25 in his clothes, which was found, and the coroner turned the amount over to Chief Burgess R. P. Wilton, which will go toward paying his funeral expenses.

RUSS ADVANCE ON WIDE FRONT

Gap is in Supreme Command of the Offensive.

ARE NEAR CZERNOWITZ

Success of Russians Stirs German General Staff and Plans to Be Sent to Galicia.

London, Jan. 6.—With Czar Nicholas as the supreme commander directing operations in the eastern theatre of war, the Muscovite forces are rolling back the Austro-Hungarian and German armies over a front nearly 250 miles long.

Again big guns are thundering in a tremendous mid-winter battle in the eastern theatre of war. Again the Russian hordes are marching through the mountain passes in eastern Galicia and along the Stripa river where big gains have been made.

Although it has been reported that Czernowitz, the capital of Bukovina has fallen into the hands of the Russians, there has been no official confirmation. However, the Russian war office announces the capture of important trenches northeast of the Bukovina capital, which shows a marked advance in that region.

The Austrian war office issued no statement of gains. The latest official Austrian statement went no further than to say that terrific fighting was in progress over a wide front, and that enormous losses were being inflicted upon the Russian attacking forces.

On the other hand, the Russian war office, which is usually conservative in its claims, reports gains in the region of Tschortorysk, along the Stripa and in Bukovina. There is heavy artillery duelling all along the line.

North of the Pripiet marshes the army of Field Marshal von Hindenburg has begun delivering scattered attacks.

An Amsterdam despatch contains the following statement: "Following the successes of the Russians, the German general staff is expected to send a demand to the Austro-Hungarian command to withdraw from the Austro-Hungarian and German forces there."

Mr. Vorhees, who is sixty-nine years old, had been in poor health for some time prior to December 27, on that date he went to Rochester with Mrs. Vorhees and his son, Harold C. Vorhees, to undergo the operation in accordance with the advice of his physician. The exact nature of the operation has not been made known.

BABIES TURN ON GAS AND DEATH COMES

Philadelphia, Jan. 6.—While their mother was at work upstairs, Andrew and Joseph Cooney, the first two years old and the other a year old, turned on the coals of the gas range in the kitchen at their home, at 1328 South Stanley street, and were dead when the mother found them.

The mother, Mrs. Kate Cooney, was almost overcome with the fumes when she went into the kitchen, and nearly lost her life when she tried to revive the children. Finally she gave up her hopeless task and staggered outdoors.

The cool air revived her, and she screamed for assistance. Neighbors sent for Dr. Allen, at 3160 Wharton street. He said the children had been dead some time.

On learning that the children were dead, Mrs. Cooney became hysterical. She is in a serious condition at the Polyclinic hospital.

According to information obtained by the police, Mrs. Cooney went up stairs to sweep. It was not until at least three hours later that she went down again.

She left Andrew and Joseph playing on the floor of the kitchen. While she was away one of them crawled to the range and turned on the gas. The fumes of it overpowered them quickly. When they were found both were lying on the floor as though they had fallen asleep.

BRITAIN TO DRAFT UNMARRIED MEN

All Between 18 and 41 Liable For Military Duty.

IRELAND IS TO BE EXCLUDED

Premier Asquith, Before Great Throng, Introduces His Modified Conscription Bill in Commons.

London, Jan. 6.—The climax in the long and bitter fight over conscription in Great Britain came in the house of commons when Premier Asquith introduced the military service bill.

Under its terms all males between the ages of eighteen and forty-one who are bachelors or widowers without children dependent on them are liable for military service. Ireland is excluded from the terms of the measure.

The bill will become a law fourteen days after royal assent is given to it and three weeks later all persons who fall under its jurisdiction automatically become enlisted men. While the measure is taking its course in parliament the group system of recruiting will be allowed to attest for future service, as was done under the Derby scheme.

In introducing the measure Mr. Asquith said no case had been made out for general conscription, and that the bill could be supported by those opposed to conscription.

The largest assemblage of members since the war began faced the premier. Many members had obtained leaves to return from the front so that they might be able to vote on the bill.

The Earl of Derby, who conducted the recruiting campaign, was in the peers' gallery. The intense interest was reflected in the throngs which sought admission to the spectators' gallery before the hour of convening.

The premier opened his address with an analysis of the figures in the Derby report. He emphasized the fact that during the Derby campaign nearly 3,000,000 men had offered their services. Even deducting those rejected on the ground of physical disability, the total was still in excess of 2,500,000.

Mr. Asquith said exemptions from service could be claimed under the terms of the bill on the same grounds as in the case of men attempted under the Derby plan. The grounds of exemption include conscientious objection to performing military service.

Other grounds for exemption from service, the premier said, included illness, physical infirmity, the necessity to support dependent persons, and the fact of being engaged on work of national importance.

KITCHENER JUSTIFIES DRAFT
Tells Lords Voluntary System is Not Adequate to Nation's Needs.

London, Jan. 6.—The fullest and fairest trial has been given the voluntary system, declared Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, secretary of state for war, addressing the house of lords on the government military service bill, providing for modified conscription.

"We are now asking parliament to sanction a change," he said, "as it has been proved that in the special circumstances of this unprecedented struggle the existing system, without modification, is not equal to maintaining the army which is needed to secure victory."

Lord Kitchener asserted that the voluntary system had given results greater than he had dared to predict or England's enemies contemplated. "The scheme of augmenting our force at the beginning of the war," he said, "was based on a definite plan to secure, by successive increases an army commensurate with our power and responsibilities with proper complement, reserve, and reinforcements necessary to keep up an effective strength in the field during the war. Further, we had to produce for the army such created guns, ammunition and military material requisite to maintain its fighting value."

REPORT KAISER IS DEAD
Rumor Circulated on the New York Produce Exchange.

New York, Jan. 6.—A rumor that Emperor William of Germany is dead was circulated upon the Produce Exchange.

No confirmation of the rumor has been received by cable nor has there been any intimation that the kaiser is dying.

EXPERTS TO PROBE STATUS OF PERSIA

To Decide if Liner Was Defenselessly Armed.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Wilson conferred with Secretary Lansing for an hour over the submarine crisis.

No additional facts, beyond the definite knowledge that only two Americans were aboard the liner Persia when it was sunk had been received by the state department over night from either Ambassador Penck at Vienna, Ambassador Gerard at Berlin or American consular agents along the shores of the Mediterranean. Such information as had already been received, however, was reviewed carefully by both the president and Mr. Lansing.

There still was every indication that no action would be taken until the receipt of fuller advice. Whether the status of the Persia was changed from an unarmed liner to that of a vessel which might be classified technically as armed, in the fact that she mounted one gun, in a point which United States naval experts will be called upon to determine. They will be asked for advice on how the liner, one gun might have been used. Menace despatches have failed to indicate whether the gun was mounted for defense or offense.

LOSS COST BRITISH 59,665
Casualties in September's Battle Anounced in House of Commons.

London, Jan. 6.—The British casualties in the battle of Loos, France, last September, totaled 53,778 officers and 5,887 men, according to an announcement made in the house of commons by Harold J. Tennant, parliamentary under secretary for war.

A table showing the killed, wounded and missing British officers and other ranks follows:

|         | Officers | Other ranks |
|---------|----------|-------------|
| Killed  | 773      | 10,341      |
| Wounded | 1,283    | 29,965      |
| Missing | 317      | 5,382       |
| Total   | 2,373    | 57,388      |

On giving the figures, Mr. Tennant said it was impossible to separate the casualties in the battle of Loos from those in adjacent areas. The figures he said were casualties on the western front from September 25 to October 8.

In the battle of Gettysburg, the decisive battle of the civil war, the Union losses were 31,556 and the Confederate losses 31,221, a total of only 62,777.

LANE OR GARRISON MAY SUCCEED LAMAR ON BENCH.
President Expected to Fill Vacancy Caused by Death of Jurist at Once.

Justice Joseph Rucker Lamar of the United States supreme court, who died the other day, was appointed to the bench by President Taft from the state of Georgia. He was a Democrat and a month past fifty-three years of age at the time of his appointment. President Taft became acquainted with him at Augusta, Ga., where Mr. Lamar had practiced law for several years before his appointment to the supreme court bench.

President Taft had spent much time at Augusta, which was one of the winter resorts he frequented. Justice Lamar had served a term on the supreme bench of Georgia, but resigned.

Speculation is rife in official circles over the probable successor to Lamar. A canvass was made of the senate and house looking to legislation for the retirement of Justice Lamar by special act of congress on full pay. Such legislation was passed for the benefit of Justice Moody when he became incapacitated. The legislation for the retirement of Justice Lamar was suspended after more favorable reports concerning his condition were received.

The names of two members of the president's cabinet have figured in the speculative gossip concerning the succession. Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane has been frequently named as most likely for the place. It was said that the president had made up his mind to appoint Mr. Lane to the supreme bench if it were possible for him to do so before the close of his presidential term.

Another cabinet name frequently mentioned is that of Secretary Garrison. The president probably would be glad to appoint Mr. Garrison to the bench if he could spare him from the war department at this time. The suggestion that Secretary Garrison is handicapped by the fact that New Jersey has one representative on the supreme bench is no more a bar to his appointment apparently than the fact that California, which claims Secretary Lane, has a representative in the supreme court in Justice McKenna.

WAR ELEMENT IS STRONG IN G. O. P.

If Roosevelt Is Nominated It Will Be Because He Fights.

WATCHING DEBATES IN HOUSE

Wilson Supporters, on the Other Hand, Say He Kept Us Out of the War and For This Reason Should Be Re-elected—Even Critics of His Mexican Policy Feel Relieved That Peace Reigns.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Jan. 6.—[Special].—There is no doubt now that if Theodore Roosevelt is nominated by the Republicans it will be because the war element in the Republican party predominates.

After talking with rampant war advocates, meaning those who say war is a good thing and that the United States should be armed equal to any other nation, I am convinced that they will give reluctant support to Roosevelt, but will be enthusiastically for him when they once go over.

Just how strong the war element in the Republican party is at present no one can say. It may develop during the debates on preparedness and in discussions in the papers; but, at all events, one of the assets of Roosevelt among Republicans who bitterly opposed him four years ago is that he is a war man.

Should We Dip In?

There is a question whether the United States should dip into the great war. One of the reasons for the popularity of President Wilson is the belief that he has kept us out of war. In spite of the criticisms of the Mexican policy, there is quite a feeling of relief that United States troops are not dying in that country, especially as under all the pronouncements of the Taft and present administrations any intervention would mean that we would come away and leave Mexico intact; that we would not take any territory as indemnity. The boast of the Wilson boosters is that he has kept us out of war in Europe. If that kind of popularity amounts to anything will the boosting of Roosevelt as a war man help him to the Republican nomination?

"Made in America."

Congressman Garland of Pennsylvania, serving his first term, has introduced a bill which will appeal to quite a number of people. It provides that every article manufactured in this country shall bear the imprint "Made in America (United States)." This would be all right if it were entirely practicable. It would be all right for standard and staple articles, but to force an imprint on every little thing made in this country would mean a great hardship, particularly in regard to small articles. It would mean remodeling nearly all machinery. Of course, like many excellent people, Garland has a good object in view, but sometimes best intentions work trouble for many people.

Norwegians in the Senate.

For years Minnesota has had a man of Norwegian birth in the senate. For a long time North Dakota has been represented in the senate by a man of Norwegian parentage. It is just possible that Governor Eberhart will be elected in Minnesota, which will give the state two men of that origin. And it is among the possibilities that North Dakota may add another of the same origin to the senate.

Nothing to Do With the War.

The effort which Congressman Johnson of Washington is making to abolish the Fahrenheit thermometer has nothing to do with the war. It is not because a German name is involved, Johnson makes a good argument in favor of the centigrade measurement of temperature, and he may get a bill through making it official.

Put George on the Job.

In these days of trouble quite a number of congressmen seem to think it would be a good idea to recall the words of wisdom uttered by George Washington, principally when he warned against "foreign entanglements." There is a wide gulf between the time when Washington spoke and the present, and during that time we have gone far afield in foreign entanglements, making many treaties which have greatly hampered this country and placed a foreign restraint upon our actions. At present the temptation seems greater than ever to enter into world affairs.

Do the People Read?

It may well be asked whether or not the people read all that is sent them by their congressmen and the various committees at Washington. At present there are thousands of clerks busy sending documents, pamphlets, books, seeds and circulars furnished by the government to people all over the country. In all the complaints about the postoffice not being self sustaining little account is taken of the vast amount of mail carried free.

Patrons of Postal Savings.

The patrons of postal savings banks are in the cities. They are largely foreign born people, who have faith in the government rather than in the other banks. In a recent statement it was shown that in centers where there was the largest foreign population there were the greatest number of deposits.

Sarcastic Diner.

Customer—"I can't eat this steak." Waiter—"It must be all right. We had it approved by a government inspector only yesterday." Customer—"A more appropriate expert, I suppose."—Judge.

Medical Advertising DANGERS OF A COLD

Gettysburg People Will Do Well to Heed Them.

Many bad cases of kidney trouble result from a bad cold or chill. Congested kidneys fall behind in filtering the poison-laden blood and backache, headache, dizziness and disordered kidney action follow. Don't neglect a cold. Use Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of kidney trouble. Follow this Gettysburg resident's example:

Harry J. Tawney, 9 Steinwehr Ave., Gettysburg, says: "My back ached almost constantly and at times I could hardly get around. The kidney secretions gave me much annoyance by their irregularity in passage and I was lame and stiff. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's Drug Store, positively and permanently cured me. I have been in good health ever since. I know of a number of other people who have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and in each case benefit has been had." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Tawney had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HIS OWN LIFE AS BAIT.

Michigan Trapper's Plan For Luring Wolves.

Many ingenious schemes have been devised to lure the wily wolf to his destruction, but few of them have proved successful. Now, among comes Pete LeBlanc, a trapper of Floodwood, Mich., who claims to have figured out a plan whereby whole droves of wolves will march right up to their execution.

His plan of ensnaring the evasive beast, as he outlined it, is to smear tallow and blood over his boots. With this he will make a trail through the wood, and a wolf is certain to take up the scent. With the characteristic habit of wolves, after one takes it up others will join in the chase until the pack becomes large. After they have overtaken him, the trapper says, all he has to do is to shoot them down.

All in Our Lives.

Generally speaking, a man of fifty years of age has slept 6,000 days, worked 6,500 days, walked 800 days, amused himself 1,000 days, eaten 1,500 days and been sick 500 days. He has eaten 17,000 pounds of vegetables, eggs and fish and drunk, in all, 7,000 gallons of liquid.

Wherein the Profit.

"Is there any profit in selling postage stamps?" inquired the man in search of information. "Not directly," replied the druggist, "but it gets people into the habit of going to the drug store, and after that it doesn't take long to make chronic invalids of them."—Kansas City Star.

My Most Important Law Case

By JOHN Y. LARNED

My most important law case? If you mean the most important case to me individually, it was a case of breach of promise. It was a case where a woman sued a man for refusing to keep a contract of marriage and to settle on her at the same time $100,000. The strange feature was that the man, who was madly in love with the plaintiff, was as madly desirous to marry her, but claimed that he hadn't the $100,000 to give her.

My first interpretation of the case was that the woman was trying to bleed a man without having ever had any intention to marry him; my second was that she had a passion for getting men in love with her. Fitz Mooney, the defendant, in a written appeal for Kate Jackson, plaintiff, to marry him, had agreed to settle $100,000 on her if she would do so. He had at the time made twice that amount on the Stock Exchange, but had lost it all. For some reason that the lady kept to herself, knowing that he was unable to keep the financial part of his contract, she sued him on the agreement.

Kate Jackson was a widow, not especially good looking, but possessing a magnetism over men that enabled her to do what she pleased with them. She came into my office a stranger to me, offered me her case, and I was convinced from the first that she was simply desirous of annoying Mr. Fitz Mooney, though what was her object in doing so I could not imagine. There was nothing to be got out of him, and I convinced her of the fact—if she was not convinced already—but she insisted on proceeding with the case. Since I was then struggling to gain a practice and with poverty at the same time, I consented; but not before the lady had paid me $100 retaining fee.

I was soon sorry that I had accepted it. I had spent it. I was unable to get rid of my client by returning it. Never have I had such an annoying case. Mrs. Jackson did not give me her confidence, and I was continuously in doubt as to what she was driving at. Instead of my managing the case for her she was managing the plaintiff through me. Her ground of action was that she had declined several offers of rich men to accept the defendant, that he had won her affections, her other suitors had been married, died, disappeared or failed to propose again. She had thus been deprived of a pick of several fortunes. She proved these assertions by showing me love letters from these parties, and on inquiry I learned that they were rich men. What I did not learn was that they were not still available as husbands.

Half a dozen times I had the case ready to be tried, and every time something occurred to cause delay. Once the plaintiff, who was always speculating, having made $50,000 in wheat, offered to settle it all on her and marry her as well if she would accept the compromise. She peremptorily declined. The money was soon lost in copper, and my client to my surprise seemed suddenly mortified and showed signs of dropping the suit. I foolishly showed her a letter from the defendant, who was getting worn out as I was with the case, upbraiding her, whereupon she turned square about and demanded the whole amount for which she had sued, asking me if she could not double the claim.

Meanwhile my bills for services and costs were growing. The widow paid my bills promptly, but the costs went on accumulating. I reminded her that she would probably lose in the end, getting, if anything, a nominal award and would have to pay the court as well as my professional fees. But this did not stagger her in the least. The summer was coming on, and she went into the country, whence reports came that she had enthralled every man who came near her. I was in hopes that she would be snared herself and drop her case against Fitz Mooney. No such good luck. The last week in August she wrote me that she would return immediately after Labor day and desired that I would be ready to bring her suit to trial as soon thereafter as possible.

But when she returned a change had come for Fitz Mooney. He had sunk a lot of money in cotton, and on winding up his deals the account showed that he owed his broker $75,000. This was not all. His troubles, largely his affairs with the widow, had broken down his health, and he was lying very ill in a hospital.

Such was his condition when the plaintiff sailed in to my office and asked me if I was ready to try his case. I replied by giving her a brief account of Fitz Mooney's misfortunes, adding that I feared he would die before we could get judgment.

"Oh, my goodness gracious!" was the response.

Never have I seen a more sudden collapse. She begged me to call a cab at once, and when it came, apparently oblivious of me, she ran down to it and drove to the hospital.

That is the last I saw of her till after Fitz Mooney had recovered and I attended the wedding. I have seen much of the perversities of the fair sex, but nothing like this. I learned later on that the couple had been engaged and had had a spat occasioned by a criticism of Fitz Mooney of his fiancée's accepting an attention from another man. Out of this grew the whole trouble.
